

Stepping Off the Cliff -- A Whistleblower's Story

Janet L. Westbrook

26 February 2006

Note to Readers

In the interests of free and prompt dissemination of information, I have chosen to post this book on the Internet, where all can see it, and not to publish it in paper form. Please feel free to print out a copy of this book for yourself and for any interested friends. You may also quote portions of it. However, if you print it out or quote it, you must respect the copyright and give proper credit to me as author.

I welcome any factual corrections or any explanations that might cause me to revise my thinking or my understanding of the various events or situations. Please direct any such corrections or explanations to me at janet.westbrook@comcast.net.

This book is dedicated to

My husband, Jim Stevenson, whose patience and loving support mean everything to me and to

My friend Susan Arnold Kaplan, who encouraged me in the writing of this book and who sadly died when it was at the point of completion

Table of Contents

		Pages
Chapter 1	Introduction	1-1 through 1-10
Chapter 2	The ORNL Rad Protection Organization, 1989-1994	2-1 through 2-29
Chapter 3	Project, Activities, Facilities, Operations, and RORC, 1989-1994	3-1 through 3-27
Chapter 4	DOE Directives and Guidance and ORNL Procedures, 1989-1994	4-1 through 4-34
Chapter 5	Implementation of the Rad Con Manual and the Advent of 10 CFR 835, 1995-1996	5-1 through 5-46
Chapter 6	The "Work Smart" Standards Era, 1997-1998	6-1 through 6-48
Chapter 7	ISMS, The Customer Concept, ORNL Safety Management Philosophy, Self-Assessment	7-1 through 7-17
Chapter 8	ISMS Runs Amok, 1999 - March 2000	8-1 through 8-51
Chapter 9	UT-Battelle Takes Over, April-November 2000	9-1 through 9-40
Chapter 10	Seeking Jobs and Seeking Justice, December 2000 - December 2001	10-1 through 10-79
Chapter 11	DOE Covers its Ass -- And So Do Others, January 2002 - June 2005	11-1 through 11-36
Chapter 12	Oh, The Politics of It All	12-1 through 12-121
Chapter 13	Summary, Observations , and Conclusions	13-1 through 13-26